HONGKONG, 13TH APRIL, 1904

Amongst the some important stipulations embodied in the Protocol of September, 1901, were understood to be those clauses which provided for the improvement of the navigation of the approaches to Chinese ports open to foreign trade. For many years the condition of these approaches had become a crying scandal, so serious indeed that not only did foreign interests suffer, but the revenues of the Empire were injuriously affected. The school of statesmen to which belonged the late LI HUNG-CHANG saw, indeed, in these barriers a providential interference to preserve the isolation from foreign influences of China. The majority of Chinese statesmen merely looked on with calm indifference. China had got on very well with these impediments during the thousands of years covered by her history; surely this was self-evident proof that change was now superfluous. Meanwhile all the rest of the world was advancing; harbours elsewhere were being formed and enlarged, and accommodation for yet larger vessels everywhere provided. Under the stimulus thus given trade was everywhere growing in bulk, and nations once comparatively insignificant growing rich and important. China alone was standing still. Commerce, for its economical carrying on, annually demanded larger ships; and to accommodate these harbour improvements were indispensably requisite, and a large portion of the revenues of the various states were regularly devoted to these improvements. China alone was content to see herself left in the background, with the result that her commerce was stagnating, and her importance amongst the nations rapidly disappearing. Nor was this all; the difference between China as she was, and China as she might be, was becoming so marked that the more courteous of the states were openly talking of dismemberment. China, they talked, had so mismanaged and wasted her resources that it was time that she should give way to more profitable nations. Such was the common language of the Continental Powers at the beginning of 1900; the events of the succeeding summer aggravated the situation. As the ruling powers at Peking were evidently bent on placing every possible obstacle in the way of foreign intercourse a special clause was introduced into the Protocol, providing for an improvement in the treaties already referring to the duties of the Chinese Government in regard to navigation. The three open ports of Tientsin, Shanghai, and Canton were more especially provided for. During the occupation of Tientsin the Provisional Government had already taken some steps towards the improvement of the Peiho River; a dredging plant had been obtained from Europe, and a good commencement had been made by works undertaken with the object of gradually removing some of the inconvenient and dangerous bends which had for some years had the effect of completely closing the river to steam traffic between Tongku and the Bund at Tientsin. It was stipulated that the works thus begun should be carried on till all the obstructions possible were removed. With regard to Shanghai, the inadvisability of placing the local improvement works in the hands of a body having its headquarters at Peking was fully recognised, and an elaborate scheme on the model of that recently proposed for the Port of London, wherein all interests, native as well as foreign, were to be represented, was drawn up and finally approved. This was so far carried out that the elections under the scheme actually took place, and everything seemed ready for the actual inception of the undertaking. At Canton the requisite measures were left to be undertaken under the authority of the Maritime Customs, while at Tientsin the works undertaken by the Allied Commissioners, it was understood, would be continued and the port rendered accessible at all times for incoming steamers. It is curious to see how all these well-laid schemes have been permitted to pass out of recollection, and affairs to drift back into their old state. At Shanghai, as mentioned above, the election provided for was actually held, and the new body of Conservators met and elected a Chairman. With this vast amount of business performed, the Conservators adjourned, and nothing more has been heard of them from that day to this, while the condition of the approaches has been steadily going from bad to worse. In Tientsin a couple of useless bends had been removed by cutting passages through the narrow necks of intervening land, with the result that the fairway of the river, which for the past four years had been blocked to ascending steamers, was fairly well cleared, and for the last twelve months or so a steamer, once over the Taku Bar, has found no difficulty in reaching the Tientsin Bund. With that all further progress has been practically suspended. Two of the worst bends, the work on which had been actually commenced in the early part of the last summer have been allowed to lie without any further steps being taken, while the Taku Bar, the clearing of which is of the utmost importance to the trade of the place, has been entirely neglected, and this year is in a worse state than ever, the ordinary vessels trading with the port being as a rule delayed three and four days owing to the want of any defined channel through the flats, which during the whole of the month of March did not at even the highest tides carry more than nine feet of water, the average being less than eight. The dredgers, it is true, are there, but the old excuse is still peraded, that there are no funds available to set them to work. Still more unsatisfactory is the state of affairs on the Whangpoo. Here the board was actually elected. The constituents, as was natural, seeing that the vast majority of the trade is in British hands, preferred to elect a British representative. This, though there was no suspicion of unfair dealing, gave offence to the German representatives, who for some incomprehensible reason desired to hold the controlling influence in the Board. Then a personal altercation arose as to who was to be Chairman. The United States Consul-

General had been elected in the manner provided in the constitution, but the Deputy Inspector-General conceived that his office entitled him to act as Chairman. It has been apparently found impractical to reconcile these two competing claims, and the unfriendly feeling displayed by the disappointed German element has intervened to prevent any adjustment of the difficulty. In Canton under the control of the Maritime Customs similarly nothing has been done. Thus the whole thing, which needed only a little good feeling and a genuine desire to set to work, has been wilfully shipwrecked on that biggest farce of modern time—the concord of the treaty Powers. It is of course difficult or impossible to see any way out of the difficulty, but the result is important as showing how utterly the new doctrine of concord between the Powers has broken down when applied to any useful or practical end. In theory it has been held that each sovereign Power should have equal rights and equal say, and were each to really work for its own proper interests such a contention might, of course, work towards a practical end; but this is not the case. As a rule, the smaller Powers, having practically no interests to be affected, range themselves on one or other of the greater Powers, generally on the side of that which makes them the most reckless of promises. It needs little divination to perceive the inevitable result. Russia, and the circle of Powers whom she succeeds in bringing round her, scoff, of course, at anything not pointing to Russia's personal aggrandisement. Germany, ever ready, in her strange fascination, to help her neighbour over the stile, provided only that she can thereby administer a check to England, whom she curiously affects to believe is her natural antagonist, has become an adept in the art of obstruction, so that the United States and England, who control the lion's share of the trade, and are both sincerely anxious to see the conditions improved, in all cases when by this unnatural "concord" things come to a vote find themselves irrevocably left out in the cold. Such is the strange effect of the concord which was, according to the sanguine admirers, to promote a state of universal peace, but which has already laid the foundations of what must at no great lapse of time prove to be the bloodiest and most revolutionary of wars yet seen.

H.M.S. Leviathan is now at Weihaiwei and will probably remain two months. H.M.S. Fearless has gone to Chemulpo.

General Sir William Nicholson and Sir Ian Hamilton and their staff were to be received in audience by their Majesties the Emperor and Empress of Japan on the 6th inst.

Mr. P. Phillips, of Lofong, has taken the vacancy, in the Imperial Maritime Customs office in Hongkong, rendered vacant by the death of Mr. F. R. Spence. The charge of Lofong Station has been taken over by Mr. Winckel, of Taisuan.

Of seven hundred Japanese who have been wintering on the island of Sakhalin, twenty-two escaped to Hokkaido on the 4th inst. in a fishing boat across Soya Strait, the N.C. Daily News reports. Others are following. Soya Strait divides the southern point of Sakhalin from the northern point of Hokkaido.

The U.S. Army officer likes to be comfortable. The latest curiosity shown by the general officers, whose only burden when on the march are field-glasses and cigar-cases, is to furnish the private with a telescope-bag in which to carry his personal effects on the march. The ordinary private thinks it would be more to the point to furnish him with a piano-moving outfit.

The Superiors of the Italian Convent, in token of gratitude to the benevolent ladies and gentlemen for their valuable services so kindly undertaken on behalf of the orphans and invalids of the Convent at the Al Fresco Fête, wishes to express her most hearty and sincere thanks for their charity shown on that occasion. She wishes also to tender her warm thanks to the public who have so generously assisted this charitable aim, as well as to Colonel Birdwood and the officers for allowing their excellent band to play on the occasion, and for the kindness of the Star Ferry Co. in giving the launch free for the transport of the Band.

Owing to the similarity of the China Merchants' S. N. Co.'s house flag to the Japanese Mercantile flag—that of the C. M. S. N. Co. is a red flag with a yellow ball in the centre, while that of the latter is a white flag with a red ball in the centre—it has been decided by the Chinese Ministry of Commerce to make the following changes:—The China Merchants' flag will in the future be the usual square red flag with a yellow ball in the centre, but with the addition of two black dragons facing each other in the middle of the yellow ball (designated by the Chinese "Yellow Moon"). The foregoing flag is intended to distinguish the vessels of the China Merchants' S. N. Co. from Chinese trading vessels belonging to other owners who in the future are to fly a similar flag (red, with a yellow ball in the centre), but with only a single black dragon inside the yellow ball.

Viceroy Yuan Shi-kai is very anxious to start a Red Cross Society in China, and the necessary regulations are to be drawn up shortly by Prince Ching, it is said.

The cases of communicable disease reported in the Colony last week were:—Plague 3 (Chinese), all fatal; enteric fever 1 (Chinese); small-pox 7 (5 Chinese, 1 European, 1 Filipino); 5 fatal.

A flour having bananas as its base, and called bananine, is being manufactured in London. Bread is made from it in the usual way, and the taste is said not to differ much from that of ordinary bread.

We are requested to state that the entries for the forthcoming Gymkhana close to the Hon. Secretary of the Gymkhana Club at 6 p.m. to-day at the Hongkong Club. The programme of races will be found in our advertisement columns.

Viceroy Yuan Shi-kai has recently presented to the Emperor and the Empress Dowager eight sumptuously fitted motor-cars, painted and upholstered in the Imperial yellow, elaborately carved, and heavily gilded. Two are larger than the others and they are of course for the use of the Emperor and the Empress Dowager, while the Empress and Imperial concubines have the smaller ones.

The N.C. Daily News has the following:—"Sunday School Teacher—Where do bad people go? Pupil (who has studied Police Court reports)—To Hongkong." This is a joke for Shanghai, but none for us. How long are the local authorities going to remain apathetic in the matter? There is no reason whatever why we should tolerate this imposition, not being the dust-bin of the Far East.

Mr. F. S. A. Bourne, Assistant Judge, H.M. Supreme Court, Shanghai, having gone home on a holiday, Mr. J. C. E. Douglas is taking up the duties of Acting Assistant Judge, and Mr. H. Phillips, lately Vice-Consul at Tientsin, takes Mr. Douglas's duties as Registrar, Police Magistrate, and Coroner. Mr. Bertram Giles, Assessor of the Mixed Court, is going to Canton as Vice-Consul, as we have already announced.

Mr. Sugimura, Japanese Chargé d'Affaires at Mexico, reports to his Home Government that a strong protest, which he had preferred against the quarantine regulation specially enacted for the vessels and passengers arriving from the ports in Japan and China, was paid due attention by the Mexican authorities, and that vessels and passengers from Japan have now been made free from the control of the special quarantine regulation in that country.

In its Easter cricket matches Singapore beat Perak by an innings and 196 runs (316 against 59 and 59) and Penang by 72 (127 and 55 against 70 and 70). B. T. Reid and W. Dunman put on over 100 before the first wicket fell in the Perak match. H. W. Nox's bowling was most successful in both games, as he secured 13 wickets for 55 runs; Carver took 10 for 78, also for Singapore. C. G. May's batting was the most consistent, his scores being 77, 31, and 15.

The Chinese Boards of Revenue, War, and Commerce are drawing up a joint memorial to the Throne recommending the abolition of the old Courier Post Department and the handing over of the transmission of all Government and official despatches throughout the Empire to the Chinese Imperial Post established by Sir Robert Hart. The funds hitherto paid out for the support of the old Courier Posters recommended by the memorialists to be handed over to Sir Robert Hart for the extension of the new Postal Department in order to meet the requirements of the case.

Will it be ever necessary to introduce wooden blocks between our electric tram rails instead of cement? Judging by appearances some think it will; the cement seems to wear easily and break off at the side of the rails. A conference was recently held at Manila between the City Fathers and the railroad magnates regarding the streets of that city. The company now agrees to pave with wooden blocks, for the space between its rails and for eighteen inches on either side of the tracks, whenever the city shall pave the remaining breadth of the streets, the Escolta, Calle Rosario, Calle San Fernando, the Plaza Binondo, the Plaza Moraga, the Plaza Goiti, Calle Carriedo and Calle Echague. Anything is better than Manila's out-of-date cobblestones, which make driving through the streets almost unbearable.

The False Statements (Companies) Bill which, as we recently stated, has been introduced into Parliament in conformity with the promise given by Mr. Balfour last Session, when the London and Globe case was under discussion in the House of Commons, proposes to extend the liability for false statements to every responsible official in the employment of, or connected with, a company; and imposes a penalty, on conviction, of imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or, in the discretion of the Court, to a fine not exceeding five hundred pounds. Further—and this is the most important feature—it is sufficient to constitute the offence that a director, or other official, should wilfully publish, or concur in publishing, a written statement or account, relating to the financial affairs or property of the company, which he knows to be false. Thus, when the Bill becomes law, it will no longer be necessary to prove that the false statements were made with the intent to deceive or defraud; it will be sufficient to show that they were false, and were published wilfully.

THE ANGLO-FRENCH AGREEMENT.

LONDON, 10th April.
The Anglo-French agreements are very generally approved of in Great Britain and France. The London Press, with the exception of the Morning Post, congratulates the Government on what it describes as the most satisfactory diplomatic incident recorded for centuries.

LATER.
The German Press regards the Anglo-French agreement with an unfriendly eye. The Italian Press rejoices at it.

OBITUARY.

LONDON, 10th April.
The death of Isabella, ex-Queen of Spain, is announced.

GERMAN SOUTH-WEST AFRICA.

LONDON, 10th April.
The German forces in South-West Africa have had a severe but successful encounter with the Hereros. The Germans had 31 men and 1 officer killed, and 15 men and 1 officer wounded; the Hereros, 92 men killed.

THE RUSSIAN NAVY.

LONDON, 10th April.
Captain Grigorovich, in command of the Travertine, has been promoted to the rank of Rear-Admiral for gallantry in presence of the enemy, and has also been appointed Commandant of Port Arthur.

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN TROUBADOURS.

Last night the Theatre Royal, City Hall, was again the scene of a vandyke entertainment by Mr. M. B. Leavitt's clever company of "Anglo-American Troubadours." Last night's audience was hardly worthy of the merits of the Company, and it is to be hoped that better houses will be seen to-night and during the rest of the season—which is only a short one. Last night the appreciation shown by those who visited the Theatre was evidently sincere, and recalls were frequent throughout. In the first half of the programme the best items were distinctly Mr. J. V. Logdals, who, with a warmer reception, would certainly have done himself more justice, and Miss Violet Chard's dancing. In the second part of the programme the exhibition of thought-reading was decidedly the best we have seen away from home.

Professor Zancig, of the Troubadours Company, will give a demonstration on Thursday evening, selecting subjects from the audience. On Friday evening he will hypnotise a subject for a period of 24 hours, to be placed, while in this state, in the window of Messrs. Ulman and Co., Queen's Road.

All Russia's energies are not monopolised by the war. A scientific expedition, organised by the Russian Ministry of Finance, was to leave for Abyssinia last month. The expedition, which has been fitted out at the request of the Emperor Menelik, will be under the leadership of M. Kournakoff, mining engineer, and its object will be to explore the auriferous districts near the source of the White Nile. Another Russian expedition will proceed to Persia to survey the means of communication between Teheran and Bushire from the standpoint of the transport of merchandise.

Arriving in San Francisco at the end of February on his way to the scene of hostilities, Mr. Richard Harding Davis, the American war correspondent, who is now representing Collier's Weekly, was of course interviewed. He believed that he would reach Japan in time to be with the first correspondents starting for the front; he was not far wrong in this. He had something to communicate about his own sympathies. "So far as I am personally concerned," he said, "I have made up my mind to go to the Orient with no feelings for or against either side. I got into trouble in South Africa on account of my sympathy for the Boers, and I have formed the opinion that it is the duty of a war correspondent to take an unprejudiced view of things and report merely what happens."

WEATHER REPORT.

The Hongkong Observatory yesterday issued the following report:—
On the 12th at 11.53 a.m. The barometer has risen slightly in the Yangtze valley and fallen in South China and the Philippines.
The maximum pressure appears to be over N. China, and it is relatively low in the Philippines.
Gradients are slight on the China Coast, and moderate over the China Sea; light N.E. winds will prevail in the Formosa Channel and moderate N.E. winds in the China Sea.
Forecast:—Moderate N.E. winds. Fine.

WAR NOTES.

NORTHERN TELEGRAMS.

The following are the latest telegrams in the issues of the N.C. Daily News to hand yesterday:—

Tokyo, 7th April.
It is rumoured that the Russians have planted submarine mines in the estuary of the Yalu, and on the coast off Takushan.

It has transpired that the Russians have destroyed the bridges over the rivers in North Korea. A battery of eight Russian guns at Chongju has been taken back to Antungshien. The Japanese fighting line is reaching different points on the left bank of the Yalu. The American mines at Unsan, and the English mines at Eunsan, are being protected by the Japanese.

Corvairs arriving from Vladivostok state that the population between Vladivostok and Pessiet are fleeing into the interior in fear of a Japanese attack. The Russian garrisons are also retreating. There is only a small force of Cossacks at Hunchun, and there are small bodies of scouts along the Tumen.

Tokyo, 8th April.
The official returns of the Japanese casualties at Port Arthur in the various engagements aggregate 114, including fourteen killed outright, nine who have died of their wounds, and forty who have recovered.

Tokyo, 8th April.
The thawing of the ice is expected at Vladivostok about the 24th instant.

FROM CHINESE SOURCES.
The Sinwenpao learns from a letter from Fengtien that all the materials of the Russian Afforestation Co. on the Korean frontier have been removed to Hyahozhe, the reason, it is alleged, being that there are Russian cavalry stationed outside of the Co.'s concession; but it is believed this is a contemplation on the part of Russia to abandon Corea.

The same paper states that in the neighbourhood of Newchwang the forts are being repaired day and night by a body of Russians, numbering over 2,000, with Russian officers superintending, and mines have been laid near the West Fort. One day there was an artillery practice, when some real shots were fired, and in the morning one of the breach-blocks of the cannon was destroyed with the result that three Russian soldiers were killed and several wounded. The merchants, who are not accustomed to reports of cannon, are now in a panic-stricken state, but a number of natives of bad character are awaiting the opportunity to plunder, kill, burn, etc., in the villages overrun by them. Occasionally Russian troops go to the villages and plunder; the orders of the Russian Police Department are not obeyed.

THE "HAINAN."
The Weihaiwei correspondent of the N.C. Daily News writes with regard to the chartering of the s.s. Hainan:—"The total cost to the Times of this new departure in journalistic enterprise cannot be much less than £3,000 per mensem. (P) The s.s. Hainan had to be refitted at Nagasaki with a new topmast, as a first carried away on her passage to this colony. After several failures the construction and erection of a 170 ft. pole on the island was accomplished. It withstood several storms, but last week the upper portion broke during a southerly gale. It seems a great pity that when with infinite trouble the mast had been erected and apparatus prepared, there should be another accident. Several messages had been received from the Hainan and the value of the invention amply demonstrated. It is stated that the interruption will only be temporary, and an attempt is being made to replace the broken spar."

A Shanghai Times correspondent at Weihaiwei understands the naval men who were kind enough to erect the London Times' wireless pole there have been severely reprimanded by the home authorities and ordered not to assist in re-erecting the section that was blown down.

A JAPANESE COMPLAINT.
The Editor of the Osaka Asahi sends us a copy of the issue of that paper of the 3rd instant, containing a remonstrance (in English) against Admiral Makarov's action in firing at and sinking the Press steamer Hanyei Maru on the 28th ult. (as we have already reported). The following paragraph is important, because it supports the statement that the Hanyei Maru was in neutral waters at the time:—"The attack on the steamer was illegal because she was in neutral waters, and it was barbarous because the steamer was helpless under the circumstances." The Asahi concludes by saying:—"We make this accusation not because we have personally suffered financial loss, but because such action is contrary to the spirit of humanity and civilisation. Public opinion the world over, we believe, will sustain us in this condemnation of the barbarity of the Russian Navy."

ADMIRAL ALEXIEFF'S CHIEF OF STAFF.
Lieut.-General Gliniski, who has been appointed Chief of Staff to Admiral Alexieff, is stated to be a man of very adaptable character, and the chief reason for his present appointment is that he will prove an excellent intermediary between Admiral Alexieff and General Kuropatkin—a kind of buffer between these two officers, between whom there is a good deal of professional jealousy, and between whom relations of a too direct nature have therefore to be avoided. This bears out a special telegram published by us last week.

HORSES IN MANCHURIA.
The Shogyo Shimpo alleges that there is great mortality among the horses of the Russian troops in Manchuria, chiefly owing to want of fodder. All the millet obtainable has been used, and the beans have now been distributed, but the fact is that without great facilities for sending forward a supply of hay and oats the large number of horses now in the country cannot be supported. The railway, however, is too much occupied with other matters to serve such a need, and it is possible that the fine Cossack cavalry may be crippled.

[FROM A CORRESPONDENT.]

The Japanese, even those who are not sailors by profession, are familiar with the idea of braving the sea in all its moods; danger is to them a thing to play with, to laugh at, to glory in; if death claims his own, every now and then,—well, that is part of the game. Centuries of the Samurai régime, and familiarity with the swift "swish" of the two-handed sword, generation after generation, gradually eliminate from the Japanese race all regard for the value of life, all notion of the terrors of death. Death is to these people a much lighter matter than and just, and don't show such ignorance in writing on a subject they are babies at. I don't want "Phonographer" to naturally gratify with his name, but the public do so, and I bring this man out of his shell, let him come to this Studio and bring any number of respectable witnesses, for a speed contest between my pupils and myself. Yes, I will most agreeably consent to a committee, say, the Editors of all the local papers. When he writes, "I frankly disbelieve the assertions that with 2 weeks' teaching students are writing 60 words a minute," this is why I object to "Phonographer" not giving his name. Personally I would chastise such a man very severely for calling me "a perverted

THE DISASTER TO BRITISH SUBMARINE.

Portsmouth, 18th March.
The British submarine boat, No. A1, was run down and sunk off the Nab
Lightship to-day by a Donald Currie
Liner, and eleven persons were drowned, including Lieutenant Mansergh, the Senior Officer engaged in submarine work. The liner passed on and reported that she had struck a torpedo. At the time she was struck, the vessel was off the lightship engaged in manœuvres,
and was lying in seven fathoms of water, awaiting the approach of a battleship. The boat was one of the newest of the fleet of submarine vessels, and was built from the latest models, but had always been a bad diver. She was inspected recently by both the King and the Prince of Wales.

Portsmouth, 18th March.
The name of the Donald Currie Liner which struck the submarine boat is the Berwick Castle, from East London, South Africa. The loss of the boat was not known for some hours
after the liner had reported to the manœuvring fleet that she had struck a torpedo. The officers of the liner say that they saw a "pistoning"
torpedo-like hull in the water, and it is supposed, therefore, that the submarine boat rose just before she was struck. The officers of the fleet did not suppose for the moment that the submarine boat had been struck, and continued operations, expecting that the vessel would re-appear. Finally, a search was made, and the breaking of the waves revealed the presence of the ill-fated boat. There is no doubt that all the crew died in their steel tomb. It is presumed that the Berwick Castle in striking upset the trim of the boat, and spilled the gasoline in her tanks, rendering her helpless. The crew were batten down, and must have met a terrible fate from suffocation in the absence of air and owing to the fumes of the gasoline.

THE "DMITRI DONSKOI."

London, 17th March.

Answering a question in the House of Commons to-day regarding the movements of the Russian armoured cruiser Dmitri Donskoi in the Mediterranean, after re-surching of merchant vessels, etc., after re-surching at Suez, and as to what steps His Majesty's Government proposed to take to stop these operations, Mr. Balfour, while admitting the grave importance of the question, said he must have time to enquire into the facts before he would be able to give a complete answer.

RAILWAY DEVELOPMENT OF THE PHILIPPINES.

Washington, 17th March.

Secretary Taft continued his discussion on Philippine matters to-day, before the House Committee on Insular Affairs.
Concerning the Cooper Bill, which guarantees 4 per cent. on an investment of $4,000,000 in railroads in the islands, the Secretary stated that he visited New York last week and had been assured by capitalists there that they would go into the enterprise if the United States Government would insure a certain income on the investment. If Congress wanted to build these roads, he said, the Commission undoubtedly would undertake it. His own views, however, were against this policy, on account of the complications, such as liability to employees.
Secretary Taft and Secretary Root had consulted with Sir William Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific, who is building railroads in Cuba. Sir William suggested that two engineers make an original investigation, and the result of this work is given in a report which Secretary Taft submitted to the Committee. A trunk line was suggested in the north of the island of Luzon, and a line in the southern end. The projected road in the south of the island, Secretary Taft believed, would pay from the beginning,
for a mileage of between 700 and 800 miles;
$25,000,000 or $30,000,000 would be the cost. A 4 per cent. burden on the Philippine Treasury on this investment would be about $1,000,000 a year. The Secretary believed that could be paid without hardship.

COLOMBIA AGRIEVED.

Washington, 16th March.

The Colombian Legation here has been closed,
and Dr. Thomas Hornan, Chargé d'Affaires, will leave the United States for his former home in Medellin, in two or three weeks. Future communications between the Colombian Government and the State Department will be conducted through the Colombian Consul-General at New York. The closing of the Legation is the direct result of the secession of Panama and the negotiation of the Isthmian Canal Treaty.
It is thought that a considerable time will elapse before the Colombian Government again nominates a Minister to Washington, as the feeling in official circles at Bogota is still very bitter.

A FRENCH VIEW OF THE SITUATION.

The Figaro publishes in its leading columns
an interview with M. de Lamoignon, ex-Minister of Marine, a post which he is not unlikely to occupy again. Among other interesting remarks M. de Lamoignon said, in reply to a question as to whether France would not be obliged to intervene in case China were to follow
the example of Corea:—

"France is not called upon to concern herself with that matter. . . . The fate of Corea will only be settled after the war, as it is the end the Japanese have in view. As to China it is certain that she will remain quiet and, moreover, what could she do? She has neither army, armaments, nor money. Russia could not accept the help of France in this quarrel in which she has engaged herself, notwithstanding the Conventions signed between her and ourselves, which Conventions assumed literally the independence and integrity of Manchuria. Our allies find themselves obliged, in consequence of the brutal aggression [of Japan, to ignore these Conventions. They are establishing their armies in Manchuria and will remain there if, as I hope, the fate of arms is favourable to them. But our duty is to remain quiet, supporting our friends by all means that are consistent with the laws of neutrality. Moreover, Russia knows very well that our intervention, instead of being of use to her, would make the struggle more dangerous than it is, and that it would not only be in the Far East that war

would make havoc but in the whole of Europe.
If France were to intervene with the few cruisers and torpedo-boats which she has in Chinese waters, England would immediately make her appearance with her squadron twice as strong as ours and the Russian squadron together. It would be quite impossible to withdraw the smallest ship from the Mediterranean or the North Sea, where England is already stronger than we are. Consequently, all our naval forces would be mobilized for our own defence. You will now understand that in such circumstances the intervention of France would be disastrous for Russia, and that is not what we want."
